POLICE INVESTIGATE DOPE ROBBERIES

ANNUAL RED CROSS DRIVE OPENS NOV. 11

Armistice Day To Mark First Solicitation For Funds—Plans Complete.

With Circleville churches starting the ball rolling this coming Sunday, probably during special Armistice services, the annual Red Cross drive will be formally gotten under way. Actual solicitation for funds will start Monday, Nov. 11.

The appeal of the Red Cross drive comes nearer a mutual understanding with people of all walks of life than any other. Without doubt one reason is that each individual is asked for the same contribution, a dollar for a year's membership. Junior memberships for children are sold for a much smaller sum, and this appeal too has been meeting with a ready response in localities where the annual drive has already been staged this fall.

ADVERTISING READY

Window and automobile advertising, as well as house-to-house matter, is ready, and an extensive campaign along these lines is being planned.

World War veterans will be interested in the drive. They best know what Red Cross and kindred organizations do for men with combat outfits ,and under any and all conditions of warfare, weather and transportation.

The following statement signed by Rev. Francis J. McConnell, president of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, itself tells the story.

"The coming annual roll call of the American Red Cross which begins on Armistice Day, is certain, as in other years to command the loyal and enthusiastic support of the churches of the nation. Our whole people is under the profoundest obligation to the American Red Cross for the promptness and effectiveness with which on countless occasions it has responded to calls desperate need and been the agency through which the philanthropic and idealistic spirit of the whole people could express itself.

"As president of Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, I bespeak for the Roll Call of the Red Cross the fullest cooperation of all the churches in the constituency of the council. I cannot imagine that there is any minister who will not be grateful for the opportunity to call the attention of the people to the work of the Red Cross and to urge them to enroll in its membership.

LAW FIGHT LOOMS IN PANTAGES PLEA

Women Jurors To Aid Defendant—Others Sworn To Help State.

LO ANGELES, CAL., Nov. 8—(INS)— A "battle of affidavits" loomed today on the eve of presention of a plea for a new trial for Alexander Pantages, convicted of criminally attacking Miss Eunice Pringle, young amateur dancer.

Three members of the jury which convicted the elderly millionaire, all women, have made affidavits asserting that they feared a radio denunciation if they did not convict Pantages.

The other nine jurors, according to the district attorneys office will sign affidavits denying the statements of the three women jurors, as to any alleged threats made concerning the possibility of being criticized over the radio, in the event a conviction was not brought in.

One of the women jurors also asserted that the jurors had discussed the arrest of Garland Biffle, a defense witness, on charges of perjury, although the arrest was made outside of the courtroom and was not supposed to have been known by the jury.

Pantages' attorneys will make a motion for a new trial tomorrow, at which time the district attorney will vigorously oppose such a move.

Township Nutrition Leaders Hear Miss Sparks Discuss Use of Sugar

Township nutrition leaders from all except three townships in the county attended the leaders training conference at the Farm Bureau office, Thursday. The nutrition project "Attractive Desserts" was the subject of this leaders meeting.

Miss Emma E. Sparks, nutrition specialist of Ohio State university, discussed the place of sugar in the human diet. Discussed food habits, the relationship of attractive desserts to the food and nutrition problems of the family and demonstrated candy making. The leaders who attended the county meeting in turn train local leaders in the township who as local leaders relay the project to the different families in their respective communities.

Attractive Desserts is the third county wide nutrition project which has been sponsored by the Pickaway-Co. Farm Bureau and carried out by the women of this organization.

The next Leaders' training meeting in this project will be held, Dec. 5.

Those attending from the different townships were: Deercreek-twp, Mrs. J. D. Carter: Jackson-twp. Mrs. George Shook and Miss Mary Shortridge: Madison-twp. Mrs. O. C. BETTMAN MAKES SCHOOL RULING

COLUMBUS, Nov. 7—A board of education is required to furnish transportation for all elementary school pupils who live more than two miles from the school to which they have been assigned, Attorney General Gilbert Bettman today gave this ruling to J. L. Clifton, state director of education.

If a school board, however, decided it is impracticable and unnecessary to operate a school bus to within a half-mile of the residence of a pupil entitled to such transportation, or to the private entrance to such residence, the board cannot be compelled, through mandmus procedings, to furnish such service. Bettman held.

45 PICKAWAY FEEDERS HEAR PAUL HACKETT

Hear Importance of Getting Cattle To Feed Gradually At Farm Home.

Forty-five cattle feeders from Pickaway and adjoining counties were in their seats as County Agent Stanley Lewis sounded the opening bell for the second feeders' school at the Pickaway-co Farm Bureau Home, Thursday evening.

This school was primarily a cattle feeding school since methods of feeding, types of rations and costs of these rations were the principal topics discussed. Paul Hackett, manager of the Johnson Farms, a practical and successful cattle feeder cautioned feeders of the importance of getting cattle onto feed gradually. M.. Hackett said "it is much better to feed calves and steers hay only and provide good clean water for them for the first 10 days to two weeks." During the last eight years, Mr. Hackett, as manager of the Johnson Farms has fed out over 10,000 head of cattle Their loss on over 1 000 head last year was seven-tenths of one per cent.

Mr Hackett stated that in their feeding operations they fed silage made from corn cobs from the canning factory, cotton seed and oil meal, oats, barley, alfalfa hay and corn

Mr. Hackett stated that they ground all of their corn, as corn and cob meal because from their experiences, they felt that the savings in corn through this method of feeding more than off-sets the expense of grinding. He feels that they keep their cattle better regulated through feeding ground corn properly supplimented as outlined above.

EMPHASIZES WATER

Mr. Hackett stated that he could not emphasize too much the importance of good clean water accessible at all times to cattle. He stated that many feeders overlook this bet because water is the cheapest feed which we have. Mr. Hackett then presented a detailed report, showing initial weight, feed costs per hundred pounds the selling price and the profit made upon their feeding operations this past year.

He then gave figures of comparisor on the Hereford, Angus and Shorthorn cattle which they exhibited in the fat cattle class at the Ohio State Fair last August Mr. Hackett said that the Hereford cattle made an average daily gain of 2.38. The feed cost on this lot was $12.00 per hundred, the net profit per steer was $31 00 This lot of cattle dressed 59.9% The Angus cattle made an average daily gain of 2.27. The feed cost per hundred pounds of grain was $12 54 per hundred. The net profit per steer was $19.97. The Angus cattle dressed out 61% The Shorthorn lot made an average daily gain of 2.31. with a feed cost per hundred pounds of gain of $12.50. The net profit per steer in the Shorthorn lot was $28 43 with a dressing per cent of 61 3.

McCANN TALKS

L F. McCann, beef cattle specialist. Ohio State University, outlined the most recent information secured from the experiment stations relative to the comparative efficiencies of soy beans, oil meal, and cotton seed meal as supplments to the rations available on the farm. Mr. McCann explained that since feeders were using largely calves and yearlings in their feeding operations that protein is more important and that the average crop rotation is quite deficient in protein Mr

START WORK ON DIRIGIBLE

AKRON, O., Nov. 7— (INS) — With a future envisioned by Rear Admiral William A. Moffett of American dirigibles traversing the seven seas and the continents and making "seaports" of inland cities, work was started here today toward assembling the dirigible ZRS-4, the first of two new aerial dreadnaughts being built for the United States Navy.

A tiny golden rivet is embedded in the uppermost part of the master ring of the dirigible, officially signaling the beginning of construction work and marking the rebirth of America' bid to the title: "Queen of the World's Skyways."

The rivet was drilled into place yesterday by Admiral Moffett amid a colorful setting. More than 50,000 persons witnessed the ceremony which took place beneath the shadows of the envious navy dirigible Los Angeles, a fleet of "Baby" blimps and other aircraft.

The ZRS-4, which will be the largest rigid lighter-than-air crift ever built, is expected to be completed in about 18 months. The ZRS-5, her sister ship, will be completed 15 months later. The master ring, which was laid yesterday, is the first of 20 ring griders forming the skeleton of the ship. It is 133 feet in diameter.

Some idea as to its size can be formed from the fact than 1.800 persons stood within the ring during the ceremonies yesterday.

"The erection of this ring is another important milestone in the progress of rigid airships in America," Admiral Moffett said as he drove home the golden rivet. "We envision fleets of American dirigibles traversing the seven seas and the continents and making 'seaports' of inland cities."

Numerous government, state and aeronautical officials attended the ceremonies yesterday They included: Major Clarence Young, director of aeronautics of the department of commerce Congressman W. V. Oliver of Alabama; C. F. McClintock of Canton, John G Cooper, of Youngstown, F W Litchfield, president of the Goodyear-Zeppelin Corporation; Dr Karl Arnstein designer of the ZRS-4. Major John J. Norys state director of commercial aeronautics, Congressman Grant Mauser of Marion, O and Commander Charles E Rosendahl of the Los-Angeles

Commander Richard Byrd, head of the Byrd Antartic expedition took part in the celebration of the ring laying of the new navy dirigible ZRS-4 here, despite the fact that he is thousands of miles away at the "bottom of the world

Byrd sent his congratulations and best wishes to Admiral William A. Moffett via radiogram which arrived during the ZRS-4 ring-laying At the banquet held last night in celebration of the ceremonies the radiogram was read and an answer was dispatched by Admiral Moffett

Another feature of last night's banquet was the presentation of the medal of Ligue Des Aviateurs Internationale to Lieutenant Commander Charles E Rosendalh of the navy. Admiral Moffett made the presentation.

Rotarians Hear Fine Election Talk By S. T. Rife, Circleville's Historian

S T Rife, Circleville's historian, talked before the Rotary club on the weekly meeting Thursday on Elections. Mr. Rife being closely associated with the methods of elections as a member of the election board and being well versed in all matters of history was well able to discuss this subject.

"There is no principle of government so firmly fixed as the will of the people, Mr. Rife stated." and this is no better expressed than through their vote at election. "The first method of election, he stated, was by word of mouth; later ballots were printed by the candidates and promiscuously distributed before election, much as the sample ballot is distributed today and voted on election day. "Later the Australian system ballot was used, which is the system we use at the present time.

"The ballots are now prepared by the supervisor of election, printed and delivered to the different precincts for voting and must not be opened before election day. "With the present method of voting each voter is allowed but one vote, which is a secret vote and the names of candidates are on one ballot. "The new election law, which goes in effect the first of January makes it possible for the people to make the use of a voting machine possible, he stated

"He explained the voting machine and how it can be used at election time.. "The principles in favor of the voting machine, he stated, "are its accuracy, eliminates the unmarked ballots, which we now have, easy and speedy way of voting and an accurate count, which is available as soon as the polls close. "With a voting machine the present expense in voting may be greatly reduced, which is another argument in their favor, he stated.

"These machines are now being used in some states with satisfactory results and will no doubt be used in many more states in the near future," Mr. Rife thinks.

It was voted not to have a meeting on Thursday, Nov. 28, Thanksgiving Day, as the meeting of Nov. 21, will be a joint meeting of Rotary, Kiwanis and the Chamber of Commerce when Gov. Cooper visits Circleville. The first meeting in December will be the annual meeting for the entertainment of Rotary Anns.

WESTERNERS ASK APOLOGY

Senator Moses Calls Republicans "Sons of Wild Jackasses."

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8— (INS) —Bitter personal quarrels over the tariff broke out afresh in the seaate today when insurgent Republicans from the west took the floor to flay Senator George H. Moses, (R). of New Hampshire, for describing members of the ruling Democrat-Progressive coalition as "Sons of Wild Jackasses."

With Moses presiding as president Pro Tem, Senators Wheeler, (D) of Montana Brookhart, (R.) of Iowa and Nye, (R.) of North Dakota, indulged in personalities in total disregard of the usual rules of senatorial courtesy.

Moses maintained his usual complancy as he was forced to recognize the embattled Westerners when they took the floor. He did not deny that he had characterized the coalition as "sons of wild jackasses" at a dinner of New England exporters here last night

When Senator Wheeler suggested that he might want to explain Moses said

"If the senator can find a more fitting appellation for the gyrated crew who run the senate I'll be glad to use it."

The recent statement of Senator Reed (R) of Pennsylvania, that Republican insurgents from the northwest who are fighting the rates in the Hawley-Smoot bill are more dangerous to the country than all the Communists combined also was discussed during the controversy.

MORPHINE AND OTHER DRUGS ARE MISSING

Three Local Medics Report Thefts—Other Offices Ransacked.

Circleville police and sheriff authorities are investigating the activities of an alleged dope addict who Wednesday night was said to have broken into the offices of several local physicians.

The man, or men, evidently was after dope and nothing else for morphine tablets, hypodermic needles and several other drugs are missing. In most instances the man is thought to have used a key in gaining entrance to the offices.

Dr. Lloyd Jonnes' office in E. Main-st was entered, completely ransacked, and at least one hypodermic needle missing. Dr. Jonnes could not account for any other losses.

Dr. E. S. Shane, whose office is in E. Main-st, reported that a vial containing 100 grains of atropine was missing from his office. All desks and drawers in Shane's office were reported to have been thoroughly searched.

Dr. O. H. Dunton, S. Court-st, reports that two hypodermic needles and three grains of morphine are missing from his office.

Although no other local medics report anything missing, it is understood that several other offices were entered and ransacked during Wednesday night.

Police Officer John McCrady as soon as notified Thursday of the robbers began an investigation but nothing could be learned as to the identity of the culprit.

Deputy Sheriff Miller Fissell went through the office of Dr. Jonnes and found fingerprints on a door-knob and on several bottles which were thought to have been handled by the robber.

STOP ATTEMPT AT JAILBREAK

Paul Nicewander Placed In Solitary As Result of Attempt.

Paul Nicewander, W. Va., indicted by the September grand jury for forcing entrance to a cash register at South Bloomfield, is being held in solitary confinement in the county jail as a result of an alleged attempt at jailbreaking.

Nicewander was seen by Deputy Carl Porter trying to pry a bar on the window of his cell loose. When Porter with Deputy Miller Fissell entered Nicewander's cell in an investigation they found several pieces of the steam pipe used for heating the jail lying on the floor in the cell.

Nicewander had entered a plea of not guilty to the grand jury indictment and is being held pending trial.

AUTOS OUTNUMBER HORSES

Reports to the Department of Agriculture show autos now far outnumber horses in the state. Taking Seneca-co for example: Personal property tax returns show a decrease of horses from last year of 342, and decrease of valuation of $25,000. There are three autos to two horses in Seneca. Similar conditions are to be found in other counties—a significant situation viewed in the light of conditions 25 years ago.

MEN, WOMEN AND CHILDREN GRATEFUL TO SPINAGO

New Tonic Containing Spinach Is a Medicine For the Whole Family. Circleville Boy Sings Its Praises.

Guard the health of the children at this time of year. Indigestion and constipation, those two most persistent enemies of the well-being of any young person, are most prevalent as autumn changes into winter. Mothers and fathers in this city and vicinity have found that there is one medicine which can be counted upon not only to aid digestion and keep the system clean but to also build up the bodies of their children. That medicine is Spinago, the new tonic containing spinach which is being introduced to the public at The Mykrantz Pharmacy in Circleville. A carefully selected assortment of medically valuable roots, herbs and barks, each one working separately and in co-operation with the others gives Spinago the power to perform the duty of regulating the stomach and bowels. Concentrated spinach, which is contained in every bottle of Spinago serves to nourish the body, clean, freshen and enrichen the blood, and to build it up to health and fitness.

SANFORD MORRIS.

Mr. William Morris, 118 E. Water St., Circleville, took two bottles of Spinago and was so enthusiastic over the new health it brought him that he started his 12-year-old son, Sanford on the treatment. Young Mr. Morris speaks as follows regarding this master medicine:

"It wasn't so long ago that I had to be awful careful of what I ate. Daddy didn't allow me to eat anything I really liked because it upset me so. There were only a few foods which digested in my stomach and didn't cause me trouble. Candy, sodas and things like that which every boy wants, hurt me terribly and kept me in pain for a long time after I ate them. My face was broken out with pimples, I didn't have any pep and felt tired all the time. I lost all my appetite and couldn't seem to gain any weight. Daddy kept filling me up with medicines for indigestion and constipation. They all tasted bad enough to do me some good but I didn't get any better.

"Then one day daddy told me that he was going to let me take some of the medicine that did him so much good and he brought me a bottle of Spinago. It sure did the work, that's all I can say. I don't have any more of those pains I used to have after eating. I don't have to be careful of what I eat. Candy, sodas and things I like don't give me trouble any more. My face has cleared up. No more pimples. I have plenty of pep and eat like a horse. And I don't mind taking Spinago—it tastes sort of good, and it sure made a new boy out of me."

Mr. Morris and his son are not the only ones who have discovered the worth of Spinago. Thousands of men, women and children daily praise and thank this tonic for benefits they have derived from it. It is neither an adult's or a children's medicine—it is a medicine for man, woman and child—a medicine for the whole family.

Spinago is being introduced daily to hundreds of Circleville people at The Mykrantz Pharmacy, 107 N. Court St. Spinago is also sold by all other good druggists in this section.—Adv.

STRONG WHEAT MARKET

Directory Perry L. Green of the Department of Agriculture attended a meeting of directors of agriculture of various states, at Washington three days of last week. He returned optimistic on the wheat outlook. It was stated orally at the meeting by a U. S. Bureau of Agriculture official that if wheat had been held rather than rushed to the elevators the Chicago wheat pit might not have had so severe a slump as it experienced Oct. 24, while on the other hand, the rebound indicates the favorable economic conditions for a stronger wheat market in the future.

There might have been some slump even if wheat had not been rushed to market it was explained, because the market would know that the crop was being held on the farms. A major factor in the decline, it was pointed out, was a sympathetic reaction in the stock market crash due to the fact that those in the market stood to lose less in wheat than in stocks.

The quick recover in the Chicago wheat pit, it was stated, indicates the strong economic conditions for a better wheat market.

MONEY IN THE BOX

Choice Ohio apples packed in neat bushel boxes commanded net premium of 72 cents a bushel over apples of the same grade packed in bushel baskets and marketed by the growers in co-operation with the rural economics department of the Ohio Experiment Station says the Toledo Blade, editorially. The extra cost of the box is not much, but the Ohio grower who first boxed his fruit was a student of sales psychology and his gains were very substantial.

Because western apple growers who can afford to ship only their best fruit to far distant eastern markets must use boxes instead of less substantial baskets, the public has come to believe that all the best apples come in boxes.

The Ohio grower who packs his choice apples in boxes may fool the buyer into the belief that he is getting western apples, but that buyer isn't cheated one bit. The sound, well developed Ohio apple is probably of finer flavor than any of the same variety which ever comes out of the west. The home grower of the best fruit well deserves his premium price.

CLIMBERS VERBOTTEN

Conservation Commissioner J. W. Thompson advises raccoon hunters to get acquainted with the provisions of section 1398 of the Ohio general code. It provides that it is illegal to have climbers in one's possession while hunting raccoons. The claim is made that this legislation was incorporated into the law to protect coon den trees.

UNDULANT FEVER

Undulant fever, a disease contracted from cattle and hogs which are infected with contagious abortion, is being more widely recognized as a problem of considerable importance from a public health standpoint says Dr. C. McCandless, State Veterinarian. Several cases of this disease have been reported.

The disease of contagious abortion is quite prevalent among cattle and hogs throughout the country. Persons who drink raw milk from infected cattle or who handle hogs or cattle that are infected are likely to contract the disease, declares Dr. McCandless. The name "undulant fever" is applied to the disease because the attacks of fever come in waves or undulations.

Many cases are contracted from infected milk. Fortunately, however, efficient pasteurization readily destroys any of the germs of this disease which may be present in milk. The chief precautions, therefore, are the use of pasteurized milk and care when coming in contact with animals known or suspected to be infected with contagious abortion.

Relief Given by Red Cross in 117 Disasters in Year

Thirty-eight States Receive Society's Help at Cost of $8,020,000.

COMMUNITIES in thirty-eight states suffered catastrophes of such severity, during the past year, that calls were made upon the American National Red Cross, or its local chapters, for assistance.

Cyclones, hurricanes, floods and tornadoes wrought the heaviest damage, causing the greatest loss in lives and property. The Red Cross gave aid in 117 disasters in the United States, and three in its insular possessions. Expenditures for this disaster relief were $8,020,000.

Calls for help also came from eleven foreign nations in which earthquakes, floods and other problems caused distress, and the Red Cross sent $76,300 to aid in relieving the suffering.

In the United States, the Red Cross gave help to 134,000 persons. In Porto Rico, following the West Indies hurricane, relief was given to more than a half million persons.

Unusual atmospheric disturbances during the past year were advanced as the cause for the majority of the catastrophic floods, cyclones and tornadoes, with the resultant heavy calls upon the relief organization. Illustrating the wide range of the calamities, 364 counties were affected, and in twenty-eight counties, communities were twice visited by storms and floods. The Red Cross disaster relief staff, organized on a disaster preparedness basis, was constantly in the field, aided by volunteers and personnel of Red Cross Chapters and national headquarters. At one period, Red Cross workers were engaged in nineteen states simultaneously.

Support of this disaster preparedness program of the Red Cross comes from the annual roll call for members held each year from Armistice Day to Thanksgiving Day.

From Fremont, Ohio, comes the tale of a group of boys who placed a black bass in a pond populated with goldfish and carp.

Though smaller than the carp, the bass seized several of them behind the head and shook them as a dog shakes a rat. Passersby saw the scales of the fighting fish floating upon the water, captured and removed the bass. Several of the fish were destroyed, however.

Facts About Lightning

The Weather bureau says that when lightning is about to occur between a cloud and the earth (it usually occurs between different parts of the same cloud) there is a great accumulation of electricity of one kind, usually the negative, at the surface of the earth and of the opposite kind in the lower portion of the cloud. This imposes an electric strain on the medium between the two. The break, or discharge, consisting essentially of a flow of negative electricity, or electrons, toward the positive charge, may begin at any point in midair along the path and progress (this break progress) in both directions at the same time, or it may begin at either end and from there progress toward the other.

McCann stated that soy beans of good quality, fed whole, were proving quite economic as a protein suppliment, in that the price was the chief gauge as to whether a man should buy oil meal or cotton seed meal where the feeder had silage in his ration.

Where silage was not utilized in feeding operations that oil meal was more satisfactory as a protein carrier. Mr. McCann reviewed the experiments conducted relative to the amount of protein necessary to suppliment the average ration and stated that probably a happy medium would be a 1 and a half pound of cotton seed, oil meal or whole soy beans when cattle were on full feed. Mr. McCann reviewed the comparative efficiencies of different classes of cattle, stating that letting 100% represent feed required to put 100 pounds on two year old cattle, that yearlings would require 85% of this amount of feed for each 100 pounds gain.

The public is demanding lighter cuts of beef and the calf and yearling due to this fact, provide the more popular cuts and at the same time are more efficient handlers of their feed while on the farm, thus insuring less hazzards to the cattle feeder.

UNCLE DAVEY THERE

Uncle Davey Fyffe, cattle superintendent of the University Farms, was introduced to the group and told some of his timely Scotch stories and emphasized opportunities available to the man who has pasture to use some good matronly cows in the production of his own feeder calves.

The forty-five feeders represented in this meeting, have a holding of over 1960 head of cattle. When we realize that five or six of the 45 have not yet put their cattle in, this shows faith in the beef industry represented by this interested group of cattle feeders.

BIG HOG SALE

A sale of Chesterwhite thoroughbred hogs at the farm of A. H Crownover, south of Mt. Sterling, Wednesday was well attended.

Forty head of hogs were sold with prices ranging from $50. to $18. The average price brought by the 40 hogs was $30.

T. J. McThoney and Deputy Sheriff Carl Porter conducted the sale.

MAKE VALUATIONS

According to figures at the county auditor's office the entire value of railroads in Pickaway-co is worth $9,990,800, for 1929. The value of Public Utilities is worth $6,646,360.

Miss Frances Mason of Canton, will arrive this evening to be the week-end guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mason of Watt-st.

"What a difference,"
says CLEVELAND mother

"MY little daughter, Julia, suffered from constipation until she was very weak and pale," says Mrs. A. Byron Church, 3372 E. Fairfax Road, Cleveland. "She got so we had to force her to eat, and nothing agreed with her.

"What a difference there is since we've been giving her California Fig Syrup. She began to pick up with the first dose. Now she's well, strong and happy, with a splendid appetite and wonderful color."

When bad breath, coated tongue or fretfulness warn of constipation, don't wait. Give your child a little California Fig Syrup. A child loves it. Headaches, feverishness, biliousness vanish with its use. Weak stomach and bowels are strengthened. Appetite improves. Digestion and assimilation are assisted. Weak children are strengthened.

To identify the genuine, endorsed by physicians for 50 years, look for the word California on the carton.

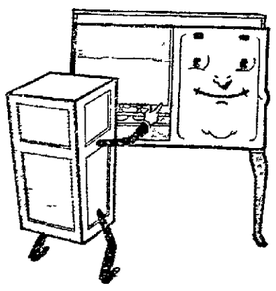
The Lesson



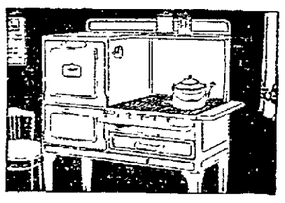
The Gas Range learned from the Refrigerator

"YOU make me laugh," said the Refrigerator to the Gas Range. "You enjoy getting all warmed up, then what do you do?"

"What?" inquired the Gas Range, timidly.

"Instead of hanging on to that heat, you let it escape, heating up the kitchen, the house and everybody's temper, to say nothing of the waste in gas. As for myself, I thrive on cold weather, but I keep the cold to myself because I am insulated . . ."

"Insulated!" exclaimed the Gas Range. "Does it hurt? Tell me more about it . . ."



And so your old friend, the Estate Gas Range, learned a lesson from the refrigerator, and got insulated. Which is the main reason why the heat used in baking, roasting, broiling, canning, stays right where it belongs—inside the oven.

*75° in the kitchen

A heavy layer of rock wool—shown by other stove tests to be the most effective of all insulating materials—completely blankets the oven and broiler section. All the heat stays inside the oven, preventing over-heating and effecting a . . .

30% SAVING OF GAS

Tests show an average gas saving of 30% in one-hour baking operations—35% and more in longer operations. Another important reason why it will pay you to install this new-type range at the earliest possible date.

The Estate Gas Ranges with Heat-Retaining Fresh Air Oven, are furnished in beautiful, all-enamel finish—your choice of white and French gray, white with Jade green trim, white with Egyptian blue trim.

With its smooth, rounded surfaces . . . every nut, screw and hinge completely concealed . . . the Estate Gas Range is as good-looking as it is efficient in cooking.

Pay Only $5.00 Cash

That's all you have to pay in order to start your Estate at once. We will gladly install any model for $5.00 cash, and allow you a whole year in which to pay the balance. Remember—there is a size, style and finish Estate to fit every requirement, every kitchen, every individual taste.

MR. GRUNDY'S GROUCH

It is too bad that Idaho does not please Joseph R. Grundy, Pennsylvania's most distinguished lobbyist, but there is not much that can be done about it. Mr. Grundy's objection to Idaho comes about 40 years too late.

Idaho was admitted to the Union in 1890, when her population was only 84,000. Along with her came Wyoming, with 62,000. In congress the Republicans had a majority of only 10 in the senate and the same number in the house. The addition of four Republicans to the senate and two to the house would help. Senator Tom Reed had to count a quorum in the house to get Idaho statehood bill through, as the Democrats absented themselves. Both states returned Republican victories in the elections and everything was O. K.

It was in this same year, 1890, that William E. Borah was admitted to the practice of law at Lyons, Kan. An ambitious young man, he would probably not have gone to Idaho if the Republican party had not been so eager to admit it to the Union. So it looks as if the party which Mr. Grundy idolizes set the stage for Mr. Borah, to whom Mr. Grundy objects so bitterly.

HOME

Home means more than four walls, infinitely more. Anyone can build or buy four walls and fill them with inanimate things, but it requires love to make a home. There are few words in any language more beautiful, more full of meaning that the word home.

It matters not whether the abode is "parlor, bedroom and bath," or whether it is a stately mansion surrounded by landscaped acres. If the hearts therein are right, it is a home in the beautiful and enduring sense.

Home is the place where those who dwell therein find contentment and enjoyment, rest and inspiration to do the greater things of life. Home is the place, above all others, where love, sincerity, honesty and good cheer should reign supreme. Home is the place where one's friends may share those joys, and sorrows too, if they come, and with the intimate members of the family, posses the happiness that is sure to abide there

These truths need emphasis nowadays. Many influences are at work to destroy homes and alienate affections from them. Whatever the counter attraction may be, they in time lose their appeal, and those who have followed them come to see there is no contentment in them.

One vital reason for having a home is to be able to share it with friends to be able to extend a generous hospitality and good cheer.

The Swedish language is taught at 18 institutions in 8 different countries.

"The Masked Hostess"
by BLAIR STEVENSON

CHAPTER I.

ONE reason for the success of the fashionable law firm of Wilberforce, Horne, Sutton & Van Pruyn was that it wasted no time over the affairs of clients whose fortunes were declining in the world. Such men and women were invariably turned over to juniors in the office whose business it was to rid the firm of them as tactfully and expeditiously as it could be brought about. The system had never been explained to any of the young men in the firm's employ. It was enough that they all understood it.

When, therefore, Mr. Sloan, one of the most capable young lawyers of the staff, was summoned into the office of Mr. Horne to discuss the situation of Miss Nathalie Van Slaick, he sensed at once what he would probably be required to do—and that he would dislike doing it with all his heart, for Sloan was a man with ideals.

He knew more or less of the Van Slaicks—a family synonymous with social rank and, in the main, synonymous with money, but containing a few members who had run through their inheritance at a swift and colorful pace. If Miss Nathlie should prove to be one of the unlucky ones it would be his business to impress her skilfully with the fact that the firm was serving her at a loss, to see that she was subjected to inconvenience and delay, and ultimately to conclude her relations with the firm with a bill for services which she could not possibly pay.

"Yes, sir?" he said when he entered Horne's room and after Horne had hung up the receiver of the telephone into which he had been speaking.

"Sit down," said Horne. "I have just been talking over the telephone to the butler of Mrs. Pemberton Swayne, the exceedingly rich and stingy aunt of Miss Nathalie Van Slaick, the lady herself being, no doubt, still in bed. It pleases me to add, however, that the cost of telephoning from Southampton, where Mrs Swayne is staying just now, has undoubtedly spoiled the day for her. Did you go to the Brookville Bank yesterday? And did you also visit the Van Slaick property?"

"Yes and no," Sloan answered "I went to the bank and had a talk with Treadwell Pound, its president. It seems that the Brookville Bank is a one-man bank and that Treadwell Pound is the one man. He is of the hard and colorless type and informed me, quite unemotionally, that neither our firm nor Miss Van Slaick need look to him for concessions or extensions in the foreclosure proceeding the bank had begun. He insists the property will never bring the amount of the bank's mortgage at the foreclosure sale and that the fact that he advised the loan a year ago has hurt his standing with the directors. Just as I left his bank it began to rain, so I did not go over to the property, but instead I roved about the village a while and checked up as much as I could on Pound. His fellow citizens hold him in very poor esteem. He——"

"Does he impress you," Horne interrupted, "as a man who may at any time have entertained social ambitions?"

Sloan shook his head. "Anything but that, I should say. He's a man of no presence at all. The ordinary village skinflint type."

"Then I fail utterly to understand," announced Horne, "how he ever allowed Jack Van Slaick a loan of fifty thousand dollars on the Firs, granting even that Jack was a genius—which he was—at raising money.

"When you see the place," he went on, "particularly if you know Long Island at all, you'll understand why I say so. It stands on the southerly or wrong side of Hempstead Plain, two miles from any village and at least a mile from any main road; a fashionable section once upon a time, long before the smart set moved north to Wheatley Hills. George Van Slaick, Nathalie's grandfather, built it for a sporting estate about forty years ago and for nearly twenty years no one has lived in it. The house is uncomfortably big and its architecture obsolete and both house and grounds are very much run down. In a general way you understand about the Van Slaicks, don't you?"

Sloan shook his head. "Only very generally."

"Then, specifically," Horne explained, "Nathalie's position is this: There are two kinds of Van Slaicks—close handed and open handed, holders and spenders, but with the holders predominating. Her father, 'Happy Jack,' as he was always called, was the fastest spender of them all; a great sportsman, a delightful chap in every way, but the kind who would bet on anything on earth and couldn't say no to a friend. His wife died the year after Nathalie was born and for the last five years he and his daughter had lived abroad. He was killed, as you know, in a motor crash a few months ago.

"A year ago he and his daughter visited this country long enough for him to raise this mortgage that the Brookville Bank is foreclosing. The property it covers was the last of his inheritance, and after raising the mortgage he deeded the property to his daughter, who had just come of age. I suppose he had some vague idea it would protect her if The Firs ever went up in value instead of down the way it has. The same day he opened a bank account in their joint name here in the city. The bank statement shows twenty-eight dollar still remaining in it. That trifle of money and The Firs are exactly all she has in the world, for Jack had no property abroad. I'm sorry for her. On the other hand, I do not see of what assistance this firm can be to her. However, I am going to give you charge of her affairs. Possibly something may come up."

Sloan understood. Nathalie was not a wanted client. He had never seen her, but the image of a girl graciously and luxuriously nurtured, left suddenly with nothing but twenty-eight dollars and an encumbered and unsaleable country estate was an image that depressed and saddened him. Then he remembered about her well placed relations.

"She can turn to her people, suppose?" he inquired.

"Let us hope so," Horne answered, "though I doubt the warmth of her welcome from her aunt, whose butler called up just as you came in. He told me that Miss Van Slaick was arriving this morning by the Mauretania and that Mrs. Swayne desired that some one from this office meet the girl at the pier. Some one is to see her through custom and take her to a hotel, for Mrs. Swayne's guest rooms, according to the butler, are all occupied just now."

Horne stopped his conversation long enough to clear his throat with a long drawn ahem. His thin lips curled in a cynical smile. Sloan stood uncomfortably awaiting the further orders of his employer. Presently Horne continued:

"You see, Sloan," he said, "Mrs Swayne would never have spent that dollar for a telephone call this morning had she not guessed rather badly, for the Mauretania docked two hours ago and I daresay Miss Van Slaick is already well on her way to Southampton—where she is decidedly not wanted!"

The telephone at Horne's elbow rang. A clerk in an outer office spoke to him:

"Miss Nathalie Van Slaick to see you, sir," said the voice on the wire.

Upland Rice Unprofitable

The Department of Agriculture says [illegible] rice is not raised commercially, as it produces only about [illegible] as much per acre as does the lowland or flood land rice. Farmers through South Carolina and Georgia sometimes raise enough for their own use, but it is not profitable for market cultivation.

Mankind's Plain Duty

We live in a world which is full of misery and ignorance, and the plain duty of each and all of us is to make the little corner we can influence somewhat less miserable and somewhat less ignorant than it was before we entered it.—Thomas Huxley.

Behave

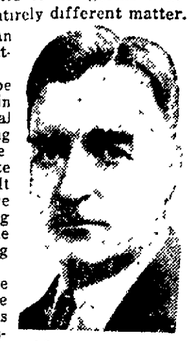
It seems to me I have much real cause for indignation. What can I do about it, in hope of good results? . . . I have concluded the only thing I can do is to behave myself, and be injured as little as possible in the runaways of other people.—E. W. Howe's Monthly.

DR. COPELAND SAYS—
Germicides and Infections

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

FROM the time it was discovered that germs cause many diseases, every effort has been made to find a means of killing them. This was not difficult, but how to get rid of the germs without damaging the tissues of the body, was an entirely different matter.

We have a few notable examples of what can be accomplished in this direction. The treatment of malaria is one such.



DR COPELAND

Malaria and its exhausting symptoms can be traced to the presence in the blood of certain microscopical organisms. Quinine, a chemical product of cinchona bark, is capable of killing these parasites. It is true that quinine can destroy the cells of the body, too, but its appetite is better satisfied by the germs of malaria. It is like several other chemicals—it has selective powers and will feed upon one sort of living tissue in preference to another. So the quinine attacks and kills the germs of malaria, leaving the human cells undamaged.

Remarkable progress is being made in the escape from and control of blood poisoning. The uncomfortable and possibly serious condition is due to infection with one or more of the pus-producing germs.

If you are in good health and vigor, a cut or pin-prick is quite unlikely to do any harm. But if you happen to be a bit under par, or the germs which enter your wound are exceptionally active, there may be local infection. That is, there will be swelling, redness and pain, confined to the immediate neighborhood of the injury. This may result in little more than a pimple.

A more serious infection is shown by a spreading of irritation and inflammation. Starting with a pin-prick and soreness of the finger, the whole hand and arm may become involved.

There is yet another complication, when the poison gets into the blood causing a general poisoning of the system. This is known as "blood-poisoning," or "septicaemia." It is a serious condition.

Escape germs if you can Make such local applications as will kill the germs of pus formation, without damage to the cells of the tissues

This is the time to apply a "germicide," a local application, which has an appetite for germs and will not damage the skin and other tissues. Iodine and mercurochrome are the popular ones.

THEATRES

AT THE MET

Elmer ("Hurry") Kane lives on the screen.

The famous character of the "You Know Me Al" series created by Ring Lardner, is interpreted for the first time, in "Fast Company," by Jack Oakie, popular young comedian of the smart-cracking type who was seen in "Close Harmony" "The Dummy," "The Wild Party" and other recent successful pictures.

Ring Lardner and George M. Cohan wrote the play from which "Fast Company" was adapted and the dialog sparkles with Lardner's ready, slangy wit. Evelyn Brent, spit-fire of many a crook melodrama, is seen here as the hard-boiled actress who succumbs to the wise-cracking, small town hero, after a series of mix-up which provide a riot of fun. Richard "Skeets" Gallagher, who played with Oakie in "Close Harmony" provides a bit of fun in "Fast Company."

"Fast Company," which will show at the Met theatre Friday, is a new kind of boy and girl romance It is fast-moving and unsentimental and decidedly amusing.

AT THE CLIFTONA FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

The fact that "The Girl in the Show" Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's all-talking production which will open Friday at the Cliftona theatre, presents a play within a play, and that, none other than the immortal "Uncle Tom's Cabin," offers something promisingly new in the way of picture entertainment and enables us to give an interesting parade of American dramatic statistics.

Bessie Love, Raymond Hackett, Frank Nelson and Mary Doran do not play all of the "Tom" show—scenes on the stage during a performance are interspersed with the backstage plot in "The Girl in the Show"—but they go far enough in their interpretations to give them a place in the "Uncle Tom's Cabin" honor roll.

Miss Love, as "Little Eva" has as fore-runners in the part Mary Pickford, Eva Tanguay, Francine Larrimore, Pearl White, Mrs. Edwin Booth, Mabel Taliaferro and Fay Templeton.

"Simon Lagree" has been played by Theodore Roberts, John J. Sullivan and others, before Raymond Hackett, quite the youngest of all, plays it for the "Ed Bondell U. T. C." troups of "The Girl in the Show."

"THREE LIVE GHOSTS"

"Three Live Ghosts," United Artists all-talking comedy-drama featuring an all-star cast which opens at the Cliftona Sunday, is unique in that it is entirely different in its theme, story construction and locale from any all-talking picture thus far produced

There are no courtroom, theatre or night club scenes depicted in "Three Live Ghosts," nor does the picture feature a theme song or song and dance specialties.

Thornton Freeland, director of "Three Live Ghosts," pointed out that every all-talking picture produced to date has either featured back-stage life, a courtroom locale or was a singing and dancing revue.

Freeland was quick to make it understood that he was directing no criticism against any talking picture, but merely wanted to point out that "Three Live Ghosts" was entirely different in that it included none of the themes featured in other talking pictures.

"Three Live Ghosts," Freeland revealed, deals with the complications that arise when three British soldiers, after escaping from a German prison camp, return to London and learn to their amazement that they have been listed by the government as "killed in action."

WEDNESDAY AND THURSDAY

Youthful marriage, kept secret from a fast set of young folk at a real "whoopee" party, gives a break-neck start to "Fast Life," the First National-Vitaphone drama coming to the Cliftona theatre next Wednesday and Thursday.

It gives such a start, in fact, that the young lovers, enacted by Loretta Young and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., are nearly carried to their doom on the impetus. The film play, like its stage original by Samuel Shipman and John Hymer, is filled with thrills, having situations, warm human interest and withal some excellent drama.

Chester Morris, the boy who made such a hit in "Alibi," is also featured in the cast. He has the same part he played on the stage. Ray Hallor, Frank Sheridan, William Holden and many other noted players from the all-star cast. John Francis Dillon directed the picture.

AT THE GRAND

Buddy Rogers, incomparable college hero, plays opposite Marion Nixon at the Grand Friday evening in a super-college play "Red Lips."

The story is of a slow young fellow who had never known the caress of a girl until he met the college petter—she aroused a tornado in the young fellow's life.

The seventh chapter of Pirates of Panama is also listed.

Hot Weather and Star Sirius Unjustly Linked

Dog days is the name given by the ancients to the hottest and most unwholesome part of the year, lasting from July 3 to August 11. The name comes from the star Sirius, the great dog which follows the mighty hunter Orion through the heavens.

The Greeks early noticed that at that season Sirius, which is the brightest star in the heavens, rose just before the sun. Consequently the star was held responsible for droughts and plagues which were most frequent during its period of early rising. The Romans named this period the Dies Canicolares, a name which comes down to us as the dog days. Roman writers tell of dogs sacrificed to appease the wrath of the "Syrian star" who "barks from afar, and with its sultry breath infects the sky."

Modern meteorology points out, however, that poor Sirius is a victim of coincidence He has nothing at all to do with the weather The scientific explanation is that heat in a way follows the sun, just as the hottest part of the day is not high noon, but an hour or two later. In the same way the hottest part of the summer is not midsummer, but slightly later than the solstice.

Spoken Like a Man

Some women are capable of believing the things they want to when they know they don't believe them.—Chicago News.

Roman Faith in Power Conferred by Sardonyx

The Romans, who greatly preferred precious stones which took kindly to engraving or carving, were devoted to the sard, in which they carved and wore the figures of Greek heroes and gods Mars and Hercules they wore for courage and victory; Mercury for political acumen and legal skill; Jupiter for success, and Venus for love.

It was believed that a sard hung around the neck, would allay pain and give self-control, attract friends and insure conjugal happiness. Its power as a marriage charm is told in the jingle—

Wear sardonyx, or for thee
No conjugal felicity

It was also claimed that this stone sharpened the wits of its wearer, making him fearless and victorious, so that in Rome it was very highly regarded as a talisman for lawyers Pliny tells of an impecunious attorney who hired a sardonyx ring to wear in court while defending a young widow He won both his case and his client at the same time, thus greatly enhancing his belief in the power of his birthstone.

Old Virginia Estate

The Virginia Harrison estate at Brandon was not so named by the Harrisons. Capt. John Martin, one of the colonists who landed at Jamestown, received a grant in 1616 and named it Martin's Brandon. It did not come into the hands of the Harrison family until some years later, when it was acquired by Benjamin Harrison, the son of the first settler of that name.

Plants That Produce Both Food and Water

In some tropical or subtropical countries there is a regular alternation of wet and dry seasons. There are found plants that grow rapidly during the rainy season, producing leaves, flowers and fruit within a short period. Some of these then die outright with the coming of the dry season, and are started anew from seeds at the return of favorable conditions. Others make the usual growth of leaves, flowers and fruit, and in addition produce bulbs, tubers, rootstocks and fleshy roots underground. By means of food materials, as sugar and starch, and quantities of water stored in these underground structures, such plants keep alive through the dry season, and are enabled to make a very rapid growth when favorable conditions return.

The amount of food materials and water stored in these structures is remarkable. Fleshy roots weighing more than 50 pounds are not unusual with some members of the gourd family. Some members of the morning glory family, as yams or sweet potatoes, reach almost as great size. The cultivated onion furnishes a familiar example of water and food storage in bulbs. As compared with other materials in the plant, the amount of water stored in these structures is amazing. The common potato contains about 80 per cent of water. The roots of carrots, beets or turnips show about an equal percentage. Bulbs, as in the onion; special water storage leaves, as in the ice plant, and stems as in some cactus forms, may show fully 90 per cent water.

Plenty of Good Music, Songs and Sketches

Lundberg-Scott Company Coming Here Soon in Snappy Program.

James Scott, Edna Lundberg (Mrs. Scott) and Dorothy Bracken make up this corking good entertainment company. Mr. Scott is a hold up his end in comedy with anybody.

tenor—and a mighty fine one, plays the cello, banjo, piano and can

Edna Lundberg sing beautifully, plays the piano as it is meant to be played and her readings are worth going a long way to hear.

Dorothy Bracken is quite an exceptional musician. In her hands the violin laughs and sobs and sings. She'll thrill you the moment she touches bow to string She also sings, is a talented all-around entertainer and possesses a very lively and winning platform personality.

The program is chuck full of good things—many of them extremely clever. Plenty of instrumental combinations of violin, piano, cello, banjo and saxophone; plenty of vocal solos, duets and trios from the big standard numbers to the gems from modern operettas, musical comedy and popular hits of the day. There are musical and dramatic sketches, costume readings, a one-act play, comedy impersonations, and many clever novelties in the present day vogue, and, of course, there is a variety of beautiful costumes.

Not a dull moment from first to last. Everything is done with snap and go. They have been general favorites for years.

Check dandruff!

You, too, can say goodbye to hair-worries, if you'll learn this simple method of caring for the hair. It is known to hundreds of stage and screen stars; used by thousands of women and girls, who haven't time for laborious methods.

Sprinkle a little Danderine on your brush tonight. Then as you brush your hair you'll feel the soothing, toning effects.

For over 30 years, specialists have recommended Danderine; to dissolve the crust of dandruff; stop falling hair; tone the scalp, encourage the hair to grow long, silky and abundant.

The first application gives your hair new life and lustre; makes it softer; easier to manage; holds it like you arrange it. Evidence beyond doubt proves the benefits of its regular use.

RED CROSS AIDS WAR VETERANS

The American Red Cross is one of the agencies recognized under the World War Veterans Act for the purpose of assisting claimants in submitting their claims for compensation and other benefits to the Veterans Bureau.

The Red Cross has been most helpful in assisting ex-service men in presenting their claims in proper form so that they can be expeditiously and intelligently acted upon by the Bureau. Their work in the hospitals in providing recreational facilities and entertainments has contributed much to the moral and physical welfare of the patients. They render aid to the uncompensated veteran and his family, and as an agency dealing with the problem of veterans relief has been most cooperative and helpful.

PRICES BOOSTED
Increases of 5 to 20 Per Cent
On Auto Tires.
By United Press
AKRON, O., Oct. 4th—General advances in tire prices was seen by Akron rubber men today in the announcement of three leading rubber concerns that prices have been revised upwards from 6 to 22 per cent.
The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. made the first announcement with a report that their prices were increased "less than 5 per cent."
This step was quickly followed by the B. F. Goodrich Co. and the General Tire & Rubber Co.
General announced an advance of 10 per cent on small tires and an increase that would amount to 22 per cent on bus and truck sizes.
Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. the only major Akron Rubber concern that has not yet announced an increase.
All the smaller concerns are expected to follow the lead taken by Goodyear.

PITT AND W.-J. HEAD WEEK'S GRID PROGRAM

Minnesota-Iowa and Ohio State-Northwestern Hold West Spotlight.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8—Having run itself rabid through a half-season of very earnest endeavor, college football was to take pretty much of a "breather" tomorrow, except here and there where breathing, for this day at least, will be largely unfashionable. They won't do much breathing before nightfall in the southwest conference, for example. Neither will Pitt and W. and J. nor Fordham and Boston College, four of the good ones on the East's unbeaten list. Nor will Minnesota until the Iowa game is over and maybe not then.

Those intersectional big timers, coupling the Army with Illinois at Champaign and Harvard with Michigan at Ann Arbor, also carry much authority in spite of the fact that the quartet involved no longer is unknown to defeat. However, any time you get major teams like these dallying with each other, the games aren't breathers. They are more likely to be stiflers.

So is the meeting between Utah and Colorado College for the Rocky Mountain title. Likewise Detroit's invasion of the East to play West Virginia after their respective ties with Marquette and Fordham, Ohio State and Northestern aren't fixing to play any sorority game, either, particularly since the result still may have a bearing on the Big Ten championship. Northwestern ran one entry, Illinois, out of it last week. It has a chance to repeat with the Buckeyes tomorrow. Minnesota's meeting with Iowa may mean the difference between the title and comparative obscurity for the Gophers but I fear that the result of the Chicago-Wisconsin game will mean very little to posterity.

However, it seems to be largely one of those days on which much in general but nothing in particular is due to happen. The Big Ten isn't playing really vital games; neither is the coast nor the Big Six nor the south. In fact, barring the few exceptions noted, you will have to go a long way to get even a little action tomorrow, most of it being concentrated in the state of Texas.

Here the boys are in for a terrible brannigan. Texas and Baylor, nominal leaders of the conference, will be embroiled in their annual event and on its result might very well depend the outcome of the southwest race. Baylor has won its only conference game to date. Texas has won two and tied the odd game with Southern Methodist. The latter will go to bat for the second time in the race in its meeting with the Aggies and ought to file this one away for future need. The Aggies have blown two already and apparently aren't through yet. Texas Christian, the other unbeaten entry, has won one conference game and five others and will see what it can do about Rice, which started once in the conference and lost once. A very fine time should be had by all.

CINCINNATI MAN, 68, ILL 5 YEARS; KONJOLA SCORED

Was Unable To Work For Three Years—Lost Eighteen Pounds —Konjola Triumphs.

WILLIAM D. CLARK

"For five years I was in poor health," said Mr. William D. Clark, 132 East Thirteenth street, Cincinnati, Ohio. "My stomach and kidneys were in a dreadful condition. My sleep was disturbed eight or ten times a night. I could not eat a meal without intense distress afterward. Neuritis settled in my shoulders. My joints were stiff and sore.

"Konjola was recommended and I decided to see what it could do. It did not take long for this medicine to prove its merits. I have gained in weight and strength. I sleep and eat like a healthy man should. The different aches and pains have practically disappeared and I feel fine. I am going ahead with the treatment to assure myself of complete and lasting relief. Konjola surely proved itself to be the master medicine and I recommend it to all who suffer as I did."

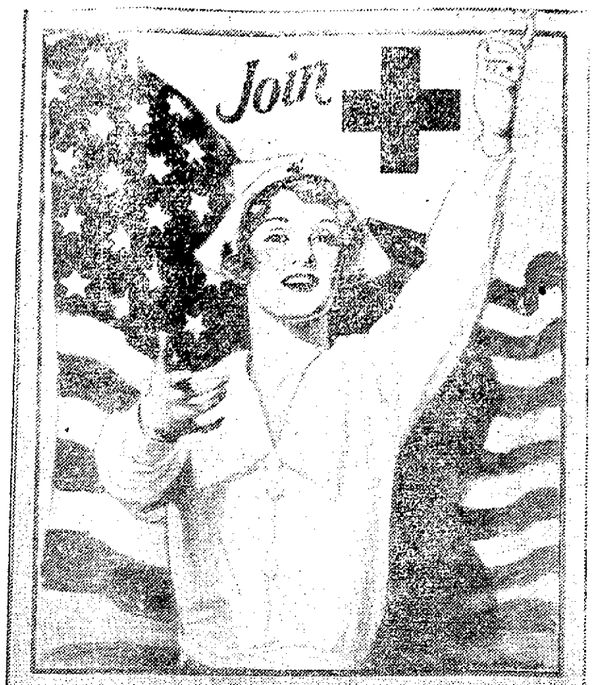
RED CROSS GIRL FOR 1929



Attractive girl artist poses for Red Cross Roll Call Poster for 1929, which is the work of Hayden Hayden.

WHEN Hayden Hayden, distinguished artist, prepared to submit a poster in the competition for use in the 1929 Red Cross Roll Call for members, he was confronted with the problem of finding a model for the typical American girl he wished to depict.

He was fortunate in enlisting the co-operation of a young fellow artist, Miss Estelle Stokes, who had for some time been his assistant, but had graduated and after studying at the Art Students' League and with Pruett Carter, is now making a name for herself in the painting field.

Miss Stokes, an athlete and outdoor girl, has transmitted her personality into some of the posters of which she is the artist, and which adorn the highways.

The vividly colored poster of which Mr. Hayden is the artist, and which is pictured here, ranks with the best that have been accepted by the Red Cross in its annual Roll Call invitation.

Key Goes With House

A key reposing in a coat pocket 100 miles away from a house is as much a part of the house as the roof on it and should be handed over to the new owner in the event of sale, says the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

Niagara River

On the Canadian side the water in the Niagara river above Horseshoe falls is about three-fourths of a foot deep near the shore, with a maximum depth of ten feet in the center. On the American side the water is one-half foot deep near the shore and two feet deep near the center.

Water That Burns

Peat as dug from the bog contains 98 per cent of water. Sun drying evaporates only 5 per cent of this water, yet peat so dried burns with a fierce heat. Ireland has 4,700 square miles of peat bogs.

OPTIMISM RUNS HIGH AT OHIO

Hanleymen Arrive In Columbus and Put Up At Athletic Club.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 8—Northwestern's powerful football herd today thundered into Columbus where it will argue its gridiron prowess with the "scarlet and gray" moleskin warriors of Ohio State University tomorrow afternoon.

Coach Hanley quartered his huskies at the Athletic Club. He will put them through a light workout this afternoon.

As the hour for the contest drew closer, optimism grew stronger in the camp of the Buckeyes, but Sam Willaman is not allowing his gridders to forget that Northwestern is the team which beat Illinois, conference champ for two years, last Saturday.

If, by any chance, Ohio State does win, it will be due mainly to its forward wall, the line against which Indiana and Michigan could not score.

Frank Baker, Northwestern's star end, will be on the same flank as Fesler, Ohio's all-American end. That should provide a little feature tiff all of its own.

Horn, Holman, Holcomb and McConnell are expected to be in the Ohio backfield when the whistle blows for the kick-off.

Various figures have been given for the amount of oxygen by weight in the atmosphere. The figures generally given in text books on physics is 23 per cent; the average results of several determinations in Hempel's "Gas Analysis," 23.15; Sir William Ramsay in the Bulletin of the United States Geological Survey No. 330, gives 23.024; A. Leduc gives the figure as 23.2.

EXIDES EMPLOYED BY N. Y. RAILROAD

The largest order ever placed for locomotive storage batteries was recently awarded to The Electric Storage Battery Company, a Philadelphia concern. This order called for 35 Exide-Ironclad Batteries. These giant batteries will be used in the fleet of battery-oil-electric locomotives now being built for the New York Central Railroad.

These 35 switching locomotives, will be constructed at a cost of more than $4,000,000. The batteries, according to Mr. Pettit, the local Exide Dealer, will weight 17 tons apiece and will furnish enough power to pull a long line of freight cars for several miles. Each battery is equal in power to approximately 21,000 automobile batteries. The locomotives will be duplicates of the ones which was placed in service as an experiment two years ago, by the New York Central Railroad.

The new type electric locomotive can be operated in any one of three ways: from its Exide-Ironclad Battery, from third rail collector, or from battery and Diesel engine generator combined.

One of the picturesque features of this great freight yard which will disappear with the advent of the modern electric locomotive, is the disguised freight steam locomotive. This locomotive might be humorously accused of "false pretense," as it has a covering which makes it resemble a box car. Nothing is shown of the locomotive but the cab.

Does Big Things for the Flock

Tuxedo Eggmash makes winter egg production rival that of spring; it helps many hens to set "egg-a-day" records for long periods. It maintains health, shortens moulting periods and lengthens productive life. Tuxedo Eggmash is the wonder egg-maker of the age.

In this marvelous mash are ingredients that make eggs, that nourish the hen, that keep her system in fine condition. One of these ingredients is PURE CANE MOLASSES, for energy, good digestion, and to stimulate thirst.

Let us furnish you a trial order, and you'll soon know why "Tuxedo" is now selling ten times as fast as five years ago.

—with the FINEST BODIES ever built for any motor car . . .

THE COACHCRAFT of the 1930 Nash "400" shows the world how a motor car body should be built. In the new arched-in upper-structure design Nash body designers have replaced customary upper body bulk with grace and slenderness. They have developed new methods of bracing and strengthening which make these 1930 Nash "400" bodies more rigid and less likely to develop rattles than any body ever put on any motor car. The new door, window and windshield opening devices operate with delightful ease. The interior is entirely insulated from the engine. Rear seats are nearly three inches wider. Twin cowl ventilators furnish the most efficient type of interior ventilation. A New generation of motor cars has arrived!

"Let's get up a Newspaper ad"

This is No. 3 of a series of ads depicting the various processes of advertising productions. The dimension of the layout appeared in ad No. 2. No. 4 will appear in an early issue.

"we'll need a PICTURE"

Following the general idea of our layout, we must have a capable artist draw a sketch of our "Roseanne Dresses" as they actually appear on the wearer. For the best effect this sketch should be drawn from a living model. After we okeh this drawing we must have an etching made.

Through our exclusive franchise for the Meyer Both General Newspaper Service we are able to duplicate these drawings and engravings from Herald advertiser's cost sheets by supplying a last-ton selection of appropriate illustrations each month. We urge our advertisers to make unlimited use of this service at no additional cost.

MARRIED TUESDAY IN LANCASTER

Miss Imogene Hoover, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hoover of Ashville, Ohio, and Mr Henry Fahrer, oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fahrer of Lancaster were the principals in a pretty nuptial event solemnized at half after 11 o'clock Tuesday at the United Brethren church parsonage. Rev. P. E. Wright, pastor of the church and uncle of Mr. Fahrer, officiated at the ceremony.

The young couple were accompanied to Lancaster by Mr. and Mrs. Howard Payne of Wilshire-ave., Columbus, who were attendants.

The bride was attired in a frock of green silk crepe with which she wore black slippers and hose to match. Her flowers were roses arranged in a bridal bouquet The matron of honor was similarly frocked and she also carried a beautiful bouquet of roses.

Mrs. Fahrer is a graduate of Ashville high school and also of the Office Training Business college of Columbus, Ohio. She was formerly associated with the Ohio State Life Insurance Co, of that city.

Mr. Fahrer, who is a graduate of the Rushville Union high school and the Lancaster Business college is a junior member of the Shaw-Fahrer Grain Co., of Rushville, holding the position of secretary-treasurer with that firm.

The young couple left on a wedding trip to the South and returning home, they will visit in Washington D. C. Boston and Niagara Falls.

They will reside at their new home on Main-st, in Rushville, which has just been completed.

GRANDDAUGHTER IS MARRIED

Announcement is being made of the marriage of Miss Amanda R Williams, 320 Marshall-ave., Columbus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs Grover C. Williams, Washington C. H., to Mr. Park A. Nicodemus, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Nicodemus, Wadsworth. The ceremony was performed last Sunday at the home of the bride by Rev. G. C. McKibben, pastor of Church of Christ in Christian Union, Cleveland-ave., Columbus.

The bride is the granddaughter of Mrs. Amanda Dick of New Holland.

Mrs. Harry Anderson (Emma Zeger) attended the bride as maid of honor and Miss Edith Barrett, Kenton, and Mrs. Wilbur Messor, 1455 Loretta-ave., sister of the bride, were bridesmaids. Mr. Harry Anderson was best man.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a frock of capucine chiffon, made in princess style, with long tight sleeves, trimmed with a large bow in the back on the waist, with a full skirt and an uneven hemline Silver slippers and hose completed her costume. She carried an arm bouquet of pink roses.

Mrs. Anderson's gown was of black satin and chiffon velvet, made with a large scarf collar of the velvet, with a tight waist, and a full skirt, longer in the back than in the front She wore a large rose o nthe shoulder. Her slippers were of black to match.

Miss Barrett was attired in a frock of black satin fashioned with long tight sleeves, molded hip line and trimmed with a rose on the shoulder. Her slippers were black to match.

Mrs. Messer was dressed in black satin, made with long sleeves and a full skirt, with an uneven hemline, and a rose in the shoulder.

The home of the bride was decorated with vases of pink roses Mrs. J. C. McKibben, wife of the preacher, played the wedding march.

A dinner at the Rose Marie followed the marriage ceremony. Rose Thawl's orchestra, broadcasting over WCAH, played a special program of wedding music for the dinner Guests were. Mr and Mrs. Wilbur Messer, Mr and Mrs O. C. Nicodemus, Wadsworth, Mr. and Mrs Harry Anderson, Mr and Mrs. E. J. Where Women Love to Shop
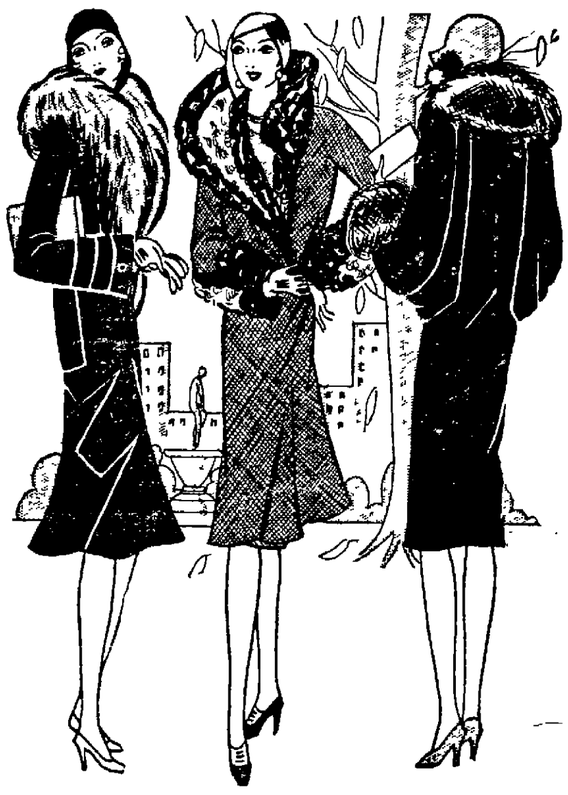
Presenting the New Mode at Definitely Lower Prices

An alliance of fashion, quality and value for women who demand the ultimate in smartness. An event of tremendous importance not only because of the compelling price appeal but because each garment is authentic in every fashion detail, style, fabric, fur and workmanship. Each is a fashion-value that discerning women recognize.



Furred Coats
$24.50 to $110
The styles are right—feminine silhouettes that answer the modern demand for slenderness—that flare in the Paris manner. . that are rich with sumptuous fur collars, cuffs and borders. The materials are right—broadcloth and the new suede fabrics.
Black, of course, and new colors. Lined with beautiful silks and satins—interlined for warmth.
Furs Include Beaver, Wolf Broadtail, Galyak and Caracul.
JUNIOR'S—WOMEN'S—MISSES' SIZES

Smart New Frocks
$5.95 to $29.50
With the much talked of silhouette. So much more feminine and more flattering with the uneven hemline, the shirred and fitted hiplines, the subtle indications of a waistline, and the soft frilly neckline and lingerie touches which make a perfect frame for sun tanned faces
Frocks of Satin, Georgette, Chiffon and Smart Woolen Materials That are Soft to the Touch in Lovely Colors.
